Seniors from Oak Meadow and students from Woodbury High School assembled Christmas stockings for needy children.

Students, seniors do Christmas stockings

The senior citizens at Oak Meadow Senior Housing in Oakdale, along with members from the Key Club at Woodbury High School (Megan Backman, Katie Munn, Kathleen Hoekstra and Agnieszka Czechowicz) assembled 30 Christmas stockings for the Booth Brown House of the Salvation Army. The Booth Brown House provides a short-term crisis intervention program to children ages 9 to 17.

The seniors contributed items for the stockings, assembled the stockings and hand-delivered them to the Booth Brown House.

Students from Woodbury High School and Lake Junior High are active at Oak Meadows alternating on Mondays as friendly visitors and volunteering at special events each month.
